

About the C.A.S.H. School Facilities Leadership Academy

What is the School Facilities Leadership Academy?

The School Facilities Leadership Academy is an educational program designed to develop current and future leaders in the school facilities and maintenance arena.

Why C.A.S.H.?

As the premier school facilities organization in the state of California, it is appropriate that C.A.S.H. has a learning institute that fosters the development of current and future highly educated and skilled professionals in the area of school facilities and maintenance. C.A.S.H.'s strength lies in the expertise of its leadership and the many other members of the organization.

How does the C.A.S.H. School Facilities Leadership Academy differ from other programs?

The CSFLA is a rigorous program with course study both in and outside of the classroom. Students will learn from the leaders in all facets of school facilities planning, funding, design, construction and maintenance. Students also benefit from peer-to-peer learning, with individual and group projects throughout the year. The Academy is limited to no more than 30 participants. Each participant is matched with a mentor to guide them in the learning process.

What is the cost to participants?

A registration fee of $6,600 covers the Institute, the eight monthly sessions, all course materials, and meals. Participants

Where will the courses be held?

The courses are held in Sacramento, at a location in proximity to the Sacramento Airport.

Testimonials

“The Montebello Unified School District profits daily from the increased capacity of our employees who have participated in all three years of the Facilities Leadership Academy. Particularly during these difficult budget times, school districts are challenged to operate every facet of their facilities programs with utmost efficiency. The Academy develops leaders who have the expertise to meet this challenge, and I recommend the Academy program without reservation.”

Edward Velasquez, Former Superintendent, Montebello Unified School District

“As a private sector participant in the program, I have learned about the millions of details that are handled before construction gets started. The Academy has made me a more valuable asset to our Company and our Clients. It would take years to learn on the job what is taught in this class. I would highly recommend the C.A.S.H. Leadership Academy to anyone wishing to obtain a well rounded knowledge of the business.” - Glynnna Hoekstra, Senior Vice President, Barnhart Balfour Beatty, Inc.
